

Luke Bryan

The country singer dishes about his bad habits, his secret skill and—ahem!—that famous booty.

When it comes to dogs, I'm a real softie.

We have Mona, a French bulldog, and Pappy, a Lagotto Romagnolo. And yes, I cried while watching Marley & Me.

I'm not afraid to admit

I love Justin Bieber's "Boyfriend." It's the song that gave me Bieber fever.

I hope my sons—Bo, 6, and Tate, 4—inherited my love of fishing, camping and the great outdoors, but not my passion for blackjack. That could get them into trouble!

My fans have set up Twitter accounts dedicated to my butt. I think it's flattering—and a good laugh.

I'm a slob, but I can't help it. I throw my clothes on the floor, and my wife, Caroline, is always after me to pick them up. I'm getting better, though.

My hidden talent is moonwalking. I can't do it as well as when I was a kid, but I'm still pretty good.

familycircle.com

For more celeb talk, go to familycircle.com/starturn.